DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to the Amendment filed August 26, 2002.

Accordingly, claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 10, 12, 14, 16-18, 20 and 22 were amended, and claims 11 and 19 were cancelled. Currently, claims 1-10, 12-18 and 20-25 are pending in this application.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-1, 12-18 and 20-25 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-10, 12-18 and 20-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

With respect to claims 1, 10 and 18, Applicant discloses a method of fabricating a liquid crystal display device comprising cooling the liquid crystal panel to a predetermined temperature so as to produce monostable alignment of the ferroelectric liquid crystal molecules and heating the cooled liquid crystal panel substantially to room temperature.

According to USPN 5,583,682, as shown in Fig. 1, Kitayama et al. also discloses a similar method of fabricating a liquid crystal display device comprising forming a ferroelectric liquid crystal (or chiral smectic liquid crystal) layer 15 between a first substrate 11a and a second substrate 11b; cooling the liquid crystal panel to -9 degrees C and heating to room temperature, 30 degrees C (col. 9, lines 30-42 and col. 10, lines 41-44). However, the method of Kitayama et al. produces bistable alignment of the ferroelectric liquid crystal molecules (col. 2, lines 25-30) instead of monostable alignment as recited in claims 1, 10 and 18.

Since the reference of Kitayama et al. was patented, the reference of Kitayama et al. is presumed valid over the claimed invention.

Claims 2-9, 12-17 and 20-25 are also rejected since they are dependent on the unable claims.
